PICTURE OF THE WEEK!

PENNANT BUTTERFLY ( BANNERFISH)- Often mistaken for a “Moorish Idol Fish ”, these schooling butterfly fish are easily recognizable by their bright white pennants, boldly patterned body with white and black vertical bars and a bright yellow tail fin. As they age, their pennant increases in length with some individuals having a double pennant! We discovered a new reef at 80’ this weekend with hundreds of these guys living in and among the coral. Divers rarely frequent this reef & they actually swam out, greeted us and followed us! AWESOME!
