PICTURE OF THE WEEK!

FLYING GURNARD (“Ioloa’u pinao”)- Flying Gurnards do not fly, they crawl along the sandy bottom using modified fingerlike spines of their pelvic fins. When alarmed, they spread their wings in an attempt to blend in with the bottom. We found this guy on Saturday at the edge of the sand flats where it meets the turtle grass.

DATE OF REPORTING: MAY 22, 2011
